June 27th is the date named for the execution of Amalek and John Brooks for the killing of Arch Clemonds, in Graniteville, in August, 1905. Sheriff Marshall has everything in readiness for the hanging in case the Governor does not commute. LATER—The Governor Tuesday respite the Brooks brothers until July 27th.

The Ironton boys badly worsted the Piedmont team in a game of base ball Sunday in a score of 22 to 7. The visitors had a big bunch of rooters with them and they at first didn't take kindly to defeat, but before the game was over they got in a good humor and behaved like philosophers. The Ironton boys are beating them all alike this season.

Frank G. Delano is here from West Point, New York, to spend a couple of months with his grandmother, Mrs. Pilley. Frank has now been in the military school for two years and expects to graduate in 1909. Frank is making a good record and his friends are proud of him. He talks most entertainingly of his experience of the past two years.

MARRIED—At the residence of the bride's parents, in Russellville, Wednesday, June 19, 1907, John T. Baldwin, Jr., and Miss Clara Delano, Rev. J. G. Reynolds officiating. Mr. Baldwin and his bride departed on an evening train for the Jamestown exposition, where they will spend the honeymoon. The REGISTER tenders congratulations and best wishes.

Circuit Clerk Hawkins was very much surprised on going into his office last Friday to find a very fine bride and saddle there—a gift from the posse that captured the Spaulghs. Mr. Hawkins had to do much work in collecting the reward for which he refused to make any charge, and the boys took that method of showing their appreciation. Of course, they touched Jesse in a soft spot when they handed him a saddle and bridle.

There will be a service of song and story at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath evening. Instead of the usual sermon the pastor will give the story of the hymns and the choir and congregation will sing them. There will be songs of salvation, songs of pilgrimage, songs of service, songs of peace and rest and songs of home. "O come, let us sing unto the Lord; let us make a joyful noise unto the rock of our salvation." THE PASTOR.

Division No. 2 of the Supreme Court, Tuesday, in an opinion by Judge Fox, gave George Horn, of Flat River, a new trial on the charge of first degree murder. Horn killed Constable Francis Burns on Labor Day, 1905, as the officer was leaving Horn's home, where he had been summoned to pacify the latter, who was disturbing the peace of his family and threatening their lives. Horn was tried and convicted and sentenced to hang. The Supreme Court reversed that decision and remanded the case for a new trial because of improper instructions to the jury.—Evans Herald.

One day last week a Hungarian by the name of Ote Namit, and who worked on the farm of Steve Forst, near Tip Top, came to town and sold a mule to John Mayes, the liveryman, for $50. A day or two later Forst came to town and claimed the mule. Mayes has as yet refused to give up the animal, but in case he does not do so, Forst says he will replevin. It has since developed that Namit a month or more ago mortgaged the mule to Gay & Schwab in payment of a wagon. After selling the mule, Namit bought a ticket at the station here for St. Louis and nothing has since been heard of him.

Judge Fox and Attorney General Hadley of Jefferson City arrived in Fredericktown at noon Tuesday on their way to Saco to spend a week fishing. They were met at the train by Judge R. A. Anthony and others and during the afternoon were shown over the city. That evening an informal reception was given at the Madison House where many of our citizens had the pleasure of meeting them. The next morning they, in company with Messrs. Anthony and Cahoon left for Saco, where they will be entertained by B. B. Cahoon, Jr., while they are enjoying the pure air of Madison county and the sport of angling.—Fredericktown Tribune.

Services at the M. E. Church, Ironton, Sunday, are as follows: Rev. T. G. Peterson, former pastor, will preach at 11 A. M., and Rev. W. R. McCormack, Presiding Elder of Farmington District, will preach and administer the sacrament of the Lord's Supper at 8 P. M. Every one who can make it convenient, be sure to hear these two sermons. This is the event of the First Quarterly Conference of this conference year, and we want a large attendance. The Quarterly Conference will convene Monday morning, June 24th, at 9 o'clock. Let every member of the conference be present at this important meeting. Remember the convention begins next week, Tuesday 25th. Everybody plan to attend. A. J. MAY.

The following appeared in Tuesday's Republic, telegraphed from Jefferson City: "Efforts for and against saving the life of William Spaulgh, Jr., under sentence to be hanged in Reynolds county June 25th, for the murder of Sheriff Polk of Iron county, were repeated today, but did not result in the Governor making any definite announcement, except that he would take up the case again to-morrow. Representative C. H. Polk, brother of the officer who was slain by the Spaulgh brothers while he was trying to effect the arrest of one of them on a misdemeanor complaint, spent the day here urging that the law be allowed to take its course. Spaulgh's mother, who was only lately acquitted of complicity in the killing of the sheriff, has made two trips here to try and save her son. A great many persons in Iron, Reynolds and Dent counties have interested themselves on one side or the other in this case. Arthur Spaulgh, a brother of the condemned man, is already in the penitentiary serving a sentence of fifty-five years for the part he is presumed to have taken in the killing of the sheriff. It is deemed exceedingly doubtful, to-night, if the Governor will interfere in this case." The Governor on Tuesday granted Spaulgh a respite until July 25th.

Arcadia College Commencement.

THE THIRTIETH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF Arcadia College were held in the Exhibition Hall last Monday afternoon. As is always the case at these proceedings, the hall was filled to the limit of its great capacity with parents and friends of the pupils and those who take interest and pride in this meritorious institution.

Before the Exercises began, the lower rooms were thronged with persons inspecting and admiring the numerous creations of art, utility and beauty produced by the brains and hands of the pupils. I am not sufficiently expert to set out in detail the various articles on exhibition, their uses and designations, and if I made the attempt the ladies would be sure to find me out in my pretension and ignorance. So all particularity in description is left to them, and I hasten up the stairway and into the hall.

Provided with an arm-chair of comfortable proportions immediately fronting the stage, for more than three hours I was delightedly entertained, orally, visually and intellectually; for youth, beauty, mentality and music were in the presence, and each contributed its part to my enjoyment. The ARGUMENT.

Diodotus, a Christian King of Cornwall, betrothed his only child, the Princess Ursula, to Conan, a Breton Prince, who, by force of arms, had taken possession of the fairest provinces of Gaul, now called Brittany. Ursula, however, wishing to devote her life to God's service, obtained from her father and her betrothed a year's time wherein to seek heavenly guidance before giving her hand in marriage. PRASO ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Graduating Honors and Distribution of Premiums.

I have heretofore noted the success of the Sisters in their instruction in music, as evidenced by the efficiency of their pupils. The piano numbers given in the programme were rendered with delicacy and firmness of touch and true expression. Nothing of the slovenliness and blur attendant upon insecurity and hesitation, or imperfect interpretation. On the contrary, the tones of the instrument were clear and sure as though error in touch or time were a thing beyond consideration. The proficiency of the youthful performers is indeed wonderful and they and their preceptors are alike entitled to congratulation.

The play, "Saint Ursula," was elegantly staged, and the costumes were appropriate to the time and place of its legendary occurrences. The characters were well presented and interest did not flag to the end. The several songs and chants attuned to the tenor of the play were very fine, and the final tableau was most deservedly encored. The pictures there presented will not soon fade from the memory of those who beheld them.

The papers read by Misses Fitz-Gerald and Utrup were exceptionally good. While they were being read I was impressed with the subtlety, the scope and the beauty of the mind—that human attribute that mounts to the stars, and in youth strews its aerial way with the flowers of innocence, purity and love. May these bloom perennial for all the fair and brightly hopeful ones whom my eyes greeted that afternoon!

In addition to the resident priests, Rev. Fathers Tintrup, Wernert and Adrian, there were present: Revs. Wm. Noonan of De Soto, A. Happe of Bowling Green, J. D. Diederich, C. S. R., J. A. Smyth of Doniphan and P. M. Huber of Advance, Mo. There were many other visitors from all parts of the State and also some from the adjoining commonwealths. The thirtieth annual conferring of honors and distribution of premiums at the Arcadia College, Arcadia, Mo., June 17, 1907.
